UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 13.—Japanese forces have been routed in a series of battles with Australian infantry units in the Wau district and are falling back on their base at Mubo, 10 miles south of Salamaua.

A communique from the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today that an additional 135 enemy troops have been killed in the fighting around Wau.

Japanese Blockaded

Isolated Japanese garrisons in the jungle area fringing the New Guinea coast are dying of starvation and disease. Allied sea and air blockades of the Lae-Salamaua district have reduced incoming supplies to a mere trickle and the enemy troops are in sore straits.

Ninety Japanese dead were found in the Kumasi river valley. Their bodies showed no bullet wounds. They were in advanced stages of emaciation and allied medical officers said they had died of disease or starvation.

The Japanese were decisively defeated in the fighting around Wau, which is 35 miles southwest of the main enemy base at Salamaua.

Local residents got another surprise this morning when it was discovered that there had been a heavy fall of snow during the night. Streets were bare last night, and all indications were for a continuation of the storm-slow period. Snow was still falling this morning, with indications of a heavy fall before ceasing.

In case it has slipped your mind, tomorrow is Valentine Day.

IT TAKES BOTH

PLUS MORE WAR BONDS

And here's another little reminder, not aligned in any way with Valentine Day. Monday is the last day for filing state personal tax returns.

New Castle and Lawrence county school children are doing a great job in the tin can salvage work. The collections in the city and county will probably establish a new record for the district in the war salvage efforts.

Buses went back to chains again this morning. Numerous other autos and trucks were also similarly equipped as the day wore on and the snow continued.

An acute shortage of coat hangers at many army camps is becoming alarming to the boys who must keep their uniforms spick and span all the time. Word from both the camps and the individual soldiers shows that it would be much appreciated if mothers could stick a few in that box she's packing for Johnny, or if people would send a batch to an organization like Bundles for America for distribution to camps needing them.

Judging from the great number of autos seen on the streets today, heavily coated with snow, a lot of machines are kept in open air garages in this vicinity, at night.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The world today has the assurance of President Roosevelt that the United Nations will not neglect Japan in their drive to smash Hitler and Mussolini at the European end of the infamous Axis combine.

In a fighting speech that rang with the confidence of ultimate victory, Mr. Roosevelt asserted that "we are now massing armies" in North Africa to assault Tunisia in force and drive the Germans from their last foot-hold outside the European continent.

Prelude To Invasion

The Tunisian campaign, he asserted, is but a prelude to a full-scale invasion of Europe in which the United Nations armies will keep rolling until the enemy has been forced into an "unconditional surrender."

But he warned the nation that it must not expect cheap, easy victories.

"Face-Saving" Invasion Attempt Against Minor Pacific Base Is Likely

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Japanese today are believed to be planning a "face-saving" invasion thrust against some hitherto unattacked American base in the Pacific to wipe out all the trace of defeat suffered by enemy forces in the battle of Guadalcanal.

Naval analysts found support for such a possibility in recent Japanese propaganda broadcasts which contended that all Japanese forces had been "transferred" from Guadalcanal in preparation for new blows against the United States.

Such a move would not necessarily be directed against one of the better-defended American bases on the sea-route to Australia but against some point that would be a "lifeline" to the United States if held by the enemy.

These tactics were used by the Japs when they captured the undefended American island of Kiska. For months the enemy radio boasted about seizing U. S. territory and since last June Jap forces on that island have kept important American aerial units tied up in the Aleutians.

According to informed sources, the Japs undoubtedly are mapping out all invasion thrust to cover up other offensive and defensive operations and to attempt to discredit American ability to defend its far-flung outposts.

Tunisian Roads Are Quagmires; British Bombers Join Night Raids

(International News Service)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 13.—Snow and rain, making quagmires of Tunisian roads, slowed down fighting on the North African front today as official announcements disclosed that British heavy bombers have gone into action against the enemy in the Mediterranean theater.

R. A. F. Wellingtons will be used for night raids on Axis-held ports and communications in the Tunisian coastal area, supplementing American Flying Fortresses and Mitchell and Marauder medium bombers, which have been bearing the brunt on the daylight offensives.

The twin-motored Wellingtons carry a bomb-load almost as heavy as the bigger and faster Fortresses.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 13.—Political peace between the French factions of Gen. Henri Honore Giraud and Gen. Charles DeGaulle was nearer today.

This conclusion followed an announcement that Charles Brunel, DeGaulle supporter, had been named to head the newly established war economy council.

Naming of Brunel to the important administrative post has eased tension between the Fighting French and the Giraud aides, most of whom were appointees of the Vichy regime.

U. S. FACES BIG
AFTER-WAR TASK

Will Practically Have To Supply Military Power To Police World, Says Knox

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 13.—The United States today faces the task of supplying most of the military power to police the world and enforce the peace after the war is over, according to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

Speaking at a Lincoln Day dinner of the Mid-day Luncheon club, Knox declared America cannot give liberty and freedom to the rest of the world.

"These are the things that no nation can give another nation," he said. "The most that we, as a nation, can do for other freedom-seeking nations is help create a world where a freedom-loving people can win their freedom if they want to be free."

That means that we, in our might, must lead the world in defense of the peace that victory in this war will bring and that means we must supply the major part of the military power that can and will enforce that peace against the designs of any nation or group of nations bent upon worldwide domination in the future.

Knox, a Republican, compared the trials and aspirations of President Lincoln during the Civil War with those of President Roosevelt in the present conflict and found a similarity.

High Officials Disavow Plans To Impose Clothing Ration Plan

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—High government officials today backed up their disavowal of clothing rationing with positive assurance that supplies are in "excellent shape" and ample to meet every need if "rums" are curbed and scarce-buying halted.

Appealing to the public to buy "only its normal needs" and avoid hoarding, Frank L. Walton, director of WPB's textile division, disclosed not only that stocks are ample but also that an increased allocation of wool for civilian clothing is now contemplated.

Walton's statement came after WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson denied the existence of any clothing rationing plans and moved quickly to correct a mistaken interpretation placed on testimony which he gave in a secret senate committee session several days ago.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—America's official planners today were moving swiftly to translate into reality President Roosevelt's expressed hopes for post-war unity among the Allies.

Plans were being made by the State Department and other agencies of the government to start discussions in the near future with Great Britain and other leading Allies looking toward the conclusion of definite post-war military and economic agreements.

Authoritative sources said the administration has decided these agreements should be concluded during the war in order to give positive assurance to the peoples of the world that the principles of the Atlantic charter will be made effective as soon as the Axis powers are defeated.

CBS Moscow correspondent Bill Downs said the reports, though unconfirmed, were being circulated freely in Moscow.

The British broadcast declared that the Germans "have already lost their advance fortifications" but their defense is most stubborn.

The Berlin radio spoke today of a "shortening of the entire eastern front by many hundreds of miles."

According to Berlin, battles in the near future will be characterized by "elasticity and depth."

MISSING PLANE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—An army fighter plane missing since Thursday on a flight from Providence, R. I., to Groton, Conn., was located last night in 56 feet of water in the south end of Narragansett bay, the eastern defense command and first army announced today.

The announcement also declared that a second fighter plane is missing on a similar flight from Providence to Groton and search has been instituted for the craft.

The plane, located in the bay, was found after an all-day search by army aircraft, navy boats, civil patrol planes and state police. It was found by a navy crew at a point where an eight-mile current makes salvage work difficult.

The pilot's body is believed to be still in the plane.

Senator Warns On Casualties

Sen. Holman Of Oregon Says Nation May Suffer Million In Year

ECHOES STATEMENTS ALREADY EXPRESSED

By HORACE M. COATS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Sen. Rufus C. Holman (R. Ore.) today warned the American people to steel themselves for an expectancy of 1,000,000 war casualties during the present year.

Holman's warning came close after President Roosevelt in his radio speech last night and Secretary of War Stimson in his weekly press conference declared that casualties would be heavy.

"I have a notion there will be at least a million casualties in combat by the end of 1943," Holman said.

Holman, a member of the military affairs committee, made the statement in the course of a criticism of what he termed the administration's policy of keeping facts from the people.

"The time has come," the Oregon senator said, "to let light into the dark places and let the American people know the truth and the whole truth about the conduct of the war."

Holman, just returned from a trip into the middle west, where he delivered several addresses, said he visited a plant engaged in production of war material.

"I was informed by a responsible workman in that plant," he said, "that only a few days before there were 48 men absent from work. The workman told me, too, that on that very day the plant turned out more critical products than on any previous day."

PRESIDENT DECLARES PLANS ARE SHAPING FOR JAPAN BOMBING

"The battle of Tunisia will cost us heavily in casualties," Mr. Roosevelt declared. "We must face that fact now, with the same calm courage as our men are facing it on the battlefield itself."

He outlined also the aim reached at the historic Casablanca conference with British Prime Minister Churchill to drive the Japanese out of China, and bomb the Japanese islands, as well as Germany and Italy.

"Important actions will be taken in the skies over China—and over Japan itself," he said.

Will Hit Japan Direct
Declaring that our campaign of reconquest in the Pacific does not contemplate stepping from island to island, the President stated:

"There are many roads which lead right to Tokyo. We shall neglect none of them."

"The decisions reached and the actual plans made at Casablanca," Mr. Roosevelt declared, "were not confined to any one theatre of war or to any one continent or ocean or sea. Before this year is out, it will be made known to the world—in actions rather than in words—that the Casablanca conference produced plenty of news; and it will be bad news for the Germans and Italians—and the Japanese."

President Roosevelt, made his radio address from the annual dinner of the White House Correspondents' association in Washington, where he was the guest of honor. His appearance marked the first occasion since the U. S. declaration of war that he had made a public address from a private gathering.

When Washington propaganda changes, it means we are about to be scared into accepting something new.

Searching For 19 Escaped Convicts In Mississippi

Seek Fugitives Of Prison Farm; All "Dangerous," Armed With 13 Rifles

(International News Service)

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 13.—One of the largest man hunts in Mississippi history was launched today as state law enforcement officers set out to recapture 19 convicts who staged a prison break early today at the Parchman, Miss., prison farm.

State highway patrolmen at Jackson said the fugitives had 13 rifles and all were "dangerous." They escaped while being taken to the fields at the farm to begin their daily tasks, patrolmen said.

The convicts "shot up" a house at Duncan, Miss., apparently in an effort to obtain clothing. They also stole two passenger autos and a motor truck to facilitate their flight.

They were last seen traveling south on the highway south of Clarksdale, Miss., between 9 and 9:30 a. m. today.

All banks and gasoline filling stations in the area have been notified to be on guard against robbery attempts by the gang and law enforcement officers in Tennessee and Arkansas joined in the hunt for the fugitives.

Bridges and roads were blocked at Greenville, Natchez and Vicksburg, Mississippi.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—Two big buses loaded with 70 to 80 workers sideswiped each other at Sheffield, three miles from Aliquippa, today, injuring four women and four men. Only one was hurt seriously, however.

One of the buses, a Greyhound, was bound from Pittsburgh to Kutztown, Pa., with 35 to 40 workers aboard. None of these workers was injured. The other bus, operated by the Rochester Motor Coach company, was carrying 30 or more workers into stores and offices in Aliquippa.

on this sector and occupied a number of localities," said the Soviet mid-day communiqué.

"The enemy made a determined attempt to hold but was eventually dislodged."

Another Soviet offensive appeared to be developing to major proportions northwest of Rostov in the area of Krasnoarmeyskaya where Red army forces pushed westward after capturing the town and dislodging the Germans from 40 strongly held positions.

Near Kharkov

"In the Chirchik area (70 miles south of Kharkov) Soviet offensive operations continued," the communiqué stated. "Our tank forces occupied two localities."

"On another sector an encircled enemy force was wiped out after two days' fighting. Enemy losses were 500 killed and many prisoners."

"North of Kursk our units repelled counter-attacks and inflicted heavy losses on the Axis forces."

Soviet spearheads at Krasnodar were within 60 miles of the Black Sea coast and astride the railroad to Novorossisk. An estimated 70,000 to 250,000 German and Satellite troops were reported trapped on the steadily narrowing coastal sector from Novorossisk to the Kerch peninsula.

Rostov Virtually Encircled

Axis forces virtually encircled Rostov battled fiercely to avoid annihilation. But their escape was cut off westward by Russian forces driving southward from the Donets basin.

One Russian army on this sector was within 70 miles of Mariupol, 100 miles west of Rostov on the north shore of the Sea of Azov, after capture of Krasnoarmeyskaya.

Other Red army columns closed in on Voroshilovgrad, vital rail junction north of Rostov.

Capture of Krasnoarmeyskaya, a rail artery 135 miles northwest of Rostov, blocked escape of Axis forces still fighting in the Donets river valley in defense of Rostov.

It put the Red army in position to drive south towards the Sea of Azov and cut off escape of the Axis armies outflanked in the Rostov area.

The Russian drives did not gain much territory in the past 24 hours, but they reached definite objectives which closed roads of escape to the shattered enemy forces.

The wishful-thinkers still kid themselves. Now they think Communism won't dominate Europe after Russia war.

Mine Operators Are Ready To Negotiate New UMW Wage Pact

Hard Coal Operators Await Date To Be Set By Miners And Lewis

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 13.—Pennsylvania's hard coal operators are ready to meet with representatives of the United Mine Workers of America to negotiate a new wage pact, Maj. W. W. Inglis, president of the Glen Alden Coal Company, announced today.

"We are ready any day," he declared. "Just as soon as the miners are set we will be prepared to open negotiations."

Inglis' statement followed solid fuels coordinator Harold L. Ickes' recommendation that conferences start not later than March 22 to assure there would not be any interruption in anthracite production.

George cared for his pig in such a manner that he received a perfect score for his club work, being one of three club members to reach that score at the Pittsburgh round-up. In 1941 George was president of his club and has been active in all phases of club work.

George is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Byers, North Beaver township.

Walton reported that production of clothes and apparel in 1942 was five percent greater than in 1939, the last normal peace-time year.

"If the public will buy only its normal needs of clothing—and if retail clothing stores will cooperate with their government in discouraging any hoarding or unnecessary buying of clothing—the supplies on hand will meet every need."

OPA spokesmen emphasized the lack of any program for the rationing of clothes, pointing to the absence of any facilities for handling such a tremendous undertaking.

POSITIONS RESTORED

A GLANCE at the map discloses that Russia has now virtually restored all the positions it held in the spring of 1942 when Hitler began his drive into the Caucasus and in some sectors has bettered them.

The Russians are considerably beyond their 1942 positions north of Kursk and south of Kharkov. When Rostov falls—and it seems impossible for the Nazis to retain it—the Red armies around Voroshilovgrad are in place to sweep southward and drive the invaders far back of the lines they had established after the 1941 fighting.

Of particular advantage to the Russians is that they are freeing and are about to free many of their most notable Donets Basin and Ukraine industrial cities. When the Russians evacuated those cities they moved the tools and manpower far back and continued producing. Evidently they can reverse that process and return the tools and the workers to original producing points. Thus Russia will always have the shortest possible lines of supply while the Nazis will be forced to continue supplying themselves from Germany.

Russian power mounts while that of the invader diminishes. The Axis in Europe will never be able to regain its former striking force. There is little doubt that the Eastern front is stabilized so far as the United Nations are concerned. Hitler may try to develop striking power elsewhere.

It is extremely unlikely that Hitler will ever again seek to pursue offensively the mad Russian adventure which has been most effective in tipping the scales in this war.

CANNED GOODS CUSTOMS

Canners are warning those nationally in charge of the office of price administration about a difference in canned goods customs which prevails in different regions in the United States. They fear that the rationing scheduled for March 1 will collide with difficulties in distribution.

The canners point out that the people of New York City normally consume about three times the quantity of canned goods than in rural sections of the South do. When rationing starts, they contend, all grocers will have normal stocks of canned goods on hand, but this will mean that in the low consumption regions such normal stocks will be small, and when consumers demand canned goods to the limit of their rations, difficulties will arise because their demands can not be filled.

But the men working out the rationing schedule appear to be more concerned at present about working out "point values" that are to be set for various types of canned goods.

EISENHOWER BOSS IN NORTH AFRICA

Appointment of General Eisenhower, with promotion to full four-star rank, to supreme command over all Allied forces in North Africa, with British General Sir Harold Alexander as his deputy, assures vital unification of leadership at a critical time in one of the most important theatres of the war.

To accomplish this the British have ignored questions of rank on their own side which, in a less harmonious atmosphere, might have created complications. They have waived any claim to military ascendancy in the area by reason of the victorious drive by General Montgomery's British Eighth Army, now entering Tunisia.

For some time Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Brown Cunningham, who outranked Eisenhower as a lieutenant general, has served under his direction. General Montgomery's chief, General Alexander, would also have outranked the American commander if Eisenhower had not been promoted.

The adjustment in North Africa is concrete evidence that nothing is to be permitted to interfere with the one big job—to win. This further proof of Allied unity is bad news for the Axis. British confidence in General Eisenhower was firmly expressed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill. On both sides of the Atlantic there will be general satisfaction that the further conduct of the African campaign is in the hands of the Eisenhower-Alexander combination—young generals with thoroughly demonstrated capabilities and unquestioned fighting qualities.

TO A SHOWDOWN IN AFRICA

Although bad weather continues to hold up consummation of the allied campaign in Tunisia, which has as its goal to oust the Axis from North Africa, there is growing evidence of an organization ready to strike and strike hard as soon as conditions permit. The British Eighth Army, which has followed Rommel's forces into Tunisia, may have a major part in the final drive.

What the rainy season has done in North Africa is to prevent the Allies from marshaling their full power. The railroads from coastal ports are of different gauges and incapable as yet of bearing heavy loads. Soggy highways of indifferent construction need constant repair under the grinding traffic. In these circumstances the movement of mechanized divisions has been considerably slowed down.

Air fields are not easy to construct in rainy weather and, when completed, can be utilized only with difficulty. The Axis obtained possession of the most highly improved part of Tunisia and could function militarily with little preparation.

But there are ample signs that all of these difficulties for the Allies are about to be surmounted. Enough air fields are ready in Algiers, Tunisia and Tripolitania not only to drive the Axis out of the skies but to make their short ocean lane across the Mediterranean untenable. In a few weeks at most, it is confidently expected, the Tunis Nazis will capitulate or flee.

The Allies will then have the air fields to sweep a path into Italy or the entrance of conquering armies.

Tokyo says the mission of the Japanese forces on Guadalcanal has been completed. The Japs who completed it are now making reports to their ancestors instead of to Tojo.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GUIDE CHILD'S PLAY AT HOME

Before the child enters school, he gets most of his best education through play. Even while he is attending school, some of his most valuable learning is derived from having fun at home. Because so many parents realize the foregoing facts, they are giving increasing thought to playthings for the baby and young child and to setting the stage at home for him to enjoy play which is educationally useful.

More and more good educational toys are available on the market and parents are purchasing these toys. Nevertheless, some resourceful parents provide the growing child with playthings at little or no cost. They find things all about the home. Some children, indeed, who have few of the best playthings that may be bought, are richly supplied with homemade toys.

There are hardly more fascinating toys for the child from five months to one or two years than a few clothespins, pins, a large spoon or some spoons on a strong string. The young toddler likes to carry or drag small things about the house. What is more alluring to him than to pull a long block or piece of heavy cardboard tied to a long piece of string. There's magic in his seeing the thing trail a few feet away from him as he causes it to move. If not helped too much, the youngster four or five will learn in a crude way to fasten toys together with a string.

Kindergarten Crayons
The lead pencil, however, is a dangerous plaything, even for the child of five. Give him large kindergarten crayons, instead, as soon as he will not chew them. Used or new wrapping paper is fine for him to scribble, draw or paint on. While a low table is desirable, the toy can easily draw on the floor on top of a large magazine or piece of cardboard or composition board to be had for a few cents at a lumber yard. Most of all, every youngster needs a mother and father who enjoy and appreciate all his efforts at creation.

Earlier than you might suppose the child can learn to use paints. Give him show card colors, only one at first, more later; a long-handled brush and the largest piece of paper possible. If an easel bought or homemade is used, the floor should be covered with newspapers. The child can learn early to spread some newspapers on the floor when he paints and makes things. As your child makes toys from cardboard, wood or clay, he will like to paint them.

Pasting Pictures
From two to five or so the youngster likes to look at pictures. Save for him all your catalogues and magazines. At five or six he can have valuable fun at cutting and pasting pictures in a scrapbook. As he begins to read, you can help him learn words, phrases and sentences if you will print them below the pictures he mounts. He will like to put pictures of dogs on one page, of horses on another, of airplanes on a third and so on. Also he will like to mount some of the pictures he has drawn and cut them out.

No toys can have so many uses over so many years as a set of blocks that have variety of dimensions with some smaller ones in multiples of a few larger ones. If you wish to make a set of blocks you may have measurements for them without cost by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Also a graded list of good toys to buy.

Solving Parent Problems
Q I expect a new baby in about two months. How should I prepare our daughter four and a half years of age and what should I tell her?
A. About a month before the baby is due, calmly tell this little child she is going to have a baby brother or sister. Thereafter talk of "Our baby".

A STORY

Among the stories of the late Baron de Rothschild is one which details how a change of heart once came to his valet, an excellent fellow, albeit a violent "red."

Alphonse was as good a servant as anyone could wish, and as his communistic theories got no further than attending weekly meetings, the baron never objected to his political faith.

But one week he failed to attend the regular meeting, and for weeks thereafter he did not go out. The baron thought it strange, and finally ventured to inquire of the valet why he stayed at home.

"Sir," said the valet with utmost dignity, "some of my former colleagues have calculated that if all the wealth in France were divided equally, as they insist it should be, each individual would become the possessor of two thousand francs."

"Well," said the baron, "what of that?"

"Sir," said Alphonse, "I have five thousand francs."

Two Groups Seek Large Post-War Army
One Seeks Protection, Other Policing
United States-Britain Alliance Urged

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Two conflicting schools of thought are debating, pro-and-con, in Washington, the post-war problem. To be sure, they more or less agree on one point. That is acceptance of the theory that Uncle Sam will have to continue maintenance of a large armed force indefinitely after active hostilities end.

One group, however, wants to maintain it as insurance against our participation in any future international clash. These folks want an army so strong that the rest of the world will be careful to let alone the next time it becomes involved in a conflict that does not directly concern us, as this one was not supposed to—when it began in 1939. We had our sympathies, but we kept them under control so the belligerents permitted it. The opposition group demands a huge American armament with a view to policing the whole earth later.

If it were a mere matter of keeping the peace, this would be O. K. The plan, though, is to tie the United States into an alliance with the British.

Britain is in favor of the program for obvious reasons. We are a most formidable partner for any nation to have. On the opposite hand, John Bull's empire has a lot of ramifying footholds that are liable to be beneficial to us in emergencies. The only difficulty is that protection of these footholds is a mean Yankee task whenever one of them is assaulted.

For instance, imagine what a contract we have got on our hands in India!

But that is not a circumstance in comparison with the final Russian settlement.

At present we regard Russia as an ally. The dope is that Comrade Joe Stalin will turn democratic when

Perils Of A Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.

IT IS assumed that, according to his custom, before the President issued his forty-eight-hour-week order he consulted with the heads of the CIO and the AFL. But whether he did or not, approval from them was assured from the beginning.

It would be an unique labor leader, indeed, who opposed it.

FOR THE first clear effect, extension is to accede to the insistent demand for a general wage rise for a great army of workers who are already getting higher pay than ever before. And this increase is given without modifying any labor law, withdrawing any union prerogative or imposing any sacrifice, save that of working a few more hours to be paid for at the time-and-a-half rate. Some were doing this anyhow—and gladly. The chief change is that many more will now work the extra eight hours and be highly paid for it.

AS A result, it is argued, there will follow a big increase in production. One reason is that all the war industries will be forced to a full forty-eight-hour schedule; another is that many non-war concerns, also, going to the longer week, will be compelled to get along with fewer men. Those dropped will become available for defense work and farm labor. That is the argument from the manpower view, therefore, the new order, which the President was urged to issue more than a year ago, without the extra-pay provision, should be helpful—provided, competency is exercised by the Manpower Commission in regulating the multitudinous dismissals, transfers and absorptions sure to take place.

BUT THE existing confusion in the commission, plus the wide discretion vested therein, is certainly ominous. It may function better than its record promises, though in other directions the new order is likely to have consequences, sufficiently deleterious to more than offset the benefit of the increase in manpower and to justify regret that a more realistic method was not adopted. Consider, for example, the inflationary effect of adding to the purchasing power of the people so huge an amount as will come from a thirty per cent increase, which is what the new order means.

Mr. Byrnes on Monday night pointed out, what everybody conceded, that the vast increase in consumer income is our most serious threat of inflation—and insisted that this rise has got to be stopped.

THEREFORE, he opposed any increase in wages. Yet, at the same time he applauded the forty-eight-hour order, which carries with it a very great increase. The argument that this will not be inflationary is (Continued On Page Seven)

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

Very proudly I came to the office this morning in a brand-new hat.

It was a nice hat. The clerk who sold it to me had said so. My wife liked it, and when Deuce, my dog, sniffed it, he wagged his tail in approval.

Lunchtime came and our usual clique went out for a light lunch. John, one of the fellows, looked at my hat and said, "New hat, eh?"

"Yes," I answered. "Why don't you like it?"

"Oh, it's all right, but I think it ought to be down on this side and up on this."

And, as he said it, he shaped my hat the way he thought it ought to be.

Then came another Bill. "New hat, eh?"

"Yes, do you like it?"

"Well, it would be all right if you had it the other way—up on this side and down on that."

And he made the necessary changes as he spoke.

"You fellows don't have the right idea at all," piped up a third, Jim. "With his face he ought to wear the brim up all around."

Thus speaking he arranged the brim according to his taste.

We checked our things at the restaurant and when I got my hat back after lunch it had all heretofore suggested shapes at once, in other words, no shape at all.

Walking back I looked over the fellows who had criticized my hat. What an atrocious necktie John wore. And that suit of Jim's certainly looked like a potato sack on him. How in the world could Bill ever wear a muffler like that?

Terrible!

And yet—John, Jim and Bill all liked what they wore. It suited their tastes.

I liked my hat the way I fixed it first.

Who in heck pays for my things? You or I?

Well then, mind your own business!

Evangelistic Party At Baptist Church

Here From February 17 To 28

W. D. ROE

The Roe Evangelistic party of the extension staff of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, will conduct meetings February 17 to 28 in the First Baptist church, corner of North and East streets, according to the pastor, Rev. Oliver W. Hurst.

Meetings will be held at 7:30 o'clock every night, except Monday, and at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Known as the "young preacher for young people," Mr. Roe holds the interest of all age groups, illustrating some of his sermons with object lessons. His experience in the pastorate gives him an understanding of church problems. He held a student pastorate at Wasco Baptist church, Wasco, Ill., and later was pastor of Riverside Baptist church, Camden, N. J.

Since 1939 he has been executive secretary of Montrose Bible Conference, Montrose, Pa., in addition to his work for the institute.

Plans Are Made For Pre-Easter Campaign

Churches Of City And County To Share Victory Campaign Starting March 7

In the "Victory" pre-Easter campaign that is being planned to start Sunday, March 7, there will be four New Castle groups, and each of the seven districts outside of New Castle will be considered as a group.

To participate in the campaign, the Sunday school must furnish the average attendance for the calendar year, 1942, and then call in the attendance for every Sunday during the campaign.

Many of the Sunday schools participating have a contest within the individual Sunday school, to stir up enthusiasm and interest not only in Sunday school attendance but church attendance as well.

The children of a Sunday school are especially interested in the keen competition that a contest provides, and in many cases the children are instrumental in causing the parents to attend Sunday school more regularly.

Socialists Event Planned Sunday

EVANGELIST O. R. TESSARO WILL GIVE HIS LIFE STORY SUNDAY, 2:30 P. M.

FEBRUARY 14, 1943

Mr. Tessoro will tell why he quit a $10,000.00 a year job—why he refused a $20,000.00 gift.
Hear him tell of the many persecutions he has suffered since becoming a Christian. How he was put out of home and church. You will never forget THIS.
People have traveled 200 miles to hear this.
Hear him tell how God spared his life when an express cut his car in two—how God cured him from stammering lips. Every young person considering marriage should hear this stirring truth.

NORRIS LEAVES
PEACE WARNING

Must Be No Second Versailles After World War No. 2, He Declares

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—Former Senator George Norris, veteran independent from Nebraska, today left America the warning that there must be no second Versailles after World War II.

Norris, defeated last November in a campaign for re-election, spoke at a testimonial meeting held in his honor by the Union for Democratic Action and a citizens sponsoring committee. More than 1,800 persons attended the rally in Orchestra hall.

"We must approach the altar of peace with clean hearts," he said. "Every hatred, every idea of revenge, must be driven out of our minds. We are making the peace for the children of our enemies and our own children, as yet unborn. Peace should require every one of our enemies to repudiate every war debt. This will make the financier a little more careful about lending his money in the future, and also will enable the countries to put their money into a fund that would repay as far as possible the burdens caused by the war."

"We must not do as we did at Versailles, ask that our enemies pay what we know they cannot pay. This would drag them into slavery. We say we are fighting to save the world from slavery under Hitler."

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, linked Norris with Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln.

Maryland Man Hears Plea For Special Transfusion For Ohio Boy

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 13.—From far down on Maryland's eastern shore today came a quick response to the plea for a rare type of life-giving blood that might save nine-year-old William Gavorick, of Adena, O.

C. P. Stephenson, a tire dealer of Cambridge, Md., heard the appeal in a news broadcast from radio station WCAO at Baltimore.
Ten years ago he miraculously recovered from the same rare heart ailment known as sub-acute bacterial endocarditis that is fatal 98 times out of 100 and with which young Gavorick is afflicted.

While still baffling modern medicine, the disease has sometimes been thrown off by blood transfusions from a person who has survived it.
Upon hearing the broadcast, Stephenson immediately telephoned the radio station. He offered to come to Baltimore and give his blood for reduction into plasma or to go to the boy's bedside for a direct transfusion—whichever the doctors wished.

Must File Tax Regardless Of Change In Laws

Local Income Taxpayers Advised They Positively Must File Return By Mar. 15

Local income taxpayers are advised by the local office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue that regardless of what change is made in existing laws relative to payment of income taxes, that a return must be filed by March 15 and the first quarterly installment paid.

The notice received at the local office quotes the ways and means committee of congress as follows: "Resolved, that the committee desires to inform the American people that no pending tax plan will relieve them of the necessity of filing an income tax return and the payment of the first quarterly installment on March 15, and that though the congress is seriously considering ways and means to put individual income taxes on a current basis, even though such a plan be developed prior to March 15, there will be no relief from the necessity of filing a return on March 15. The payment made in connection therewith will be a full credit for the taxpayer under such circumstances."

House Leader Favors Modified Ruml Plan

McCormack Reserves Opinion
Of Forgiveness Of 1942
Taxes, However

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—House Majority Leader John W. McCormack today praised the Ruml plan for pay-as-you-go taxation as a "very definite contribution" to solution of the nation's wartime tax problem.

While emphasizing that he did not see eye-to-eye with Beardsley Ruml, New York banker, on his proposed forgiveness of all 1942 income taxes, McCormack was warm in his endorsement of the "contribution" he felt had been made.

The Massachusetts Democratic leader said in an interview: "I certainly believe there should be some form of pay-as-you-go taxation."

"While I do not necessarily agree that we should forgive entirely the payment of 1942 taxes, I believe that Mr. Ruml has made a very definite contribution to the solution of the problem for the government and the taxpayers of the nation."

McCormack thus joined Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas in an expressed approval of pay-as-you-go machinery for the collection of increased federal taxes in 1943 and thereafter. Rayburn's statement in support of the principle of regular tax collection at the source was widely interpreted several weeks ago as virtual endorsement of the Ruml plan.

The majority leader declared further that he was convinced the Ruml plan and the support it had received from many quarters was not the result of any "organized build-up."

Ruml, he said, is "no ordinary man."

Phoenixville Plant Is Swept By Blaze

Damage To Army Supply
$125,000

(International News Service)
PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., Feb. 13.—Fire of undetermined origin today swept through the Town Talk industries plant in Phoenixville, causing damage estimated at $125,000.

One of the supplies to the new 2,000-bed Army General hospital a mile away, the plant sold most of its output to the government. The fire was discovered four hours after the last shift of workers left at midnight, police said.

Despite the efforts of firemen from Phoenixville and Rovers Ford, the flames, fed by large quantities of lard and rolls of cellophane, quickly destroyed the structure. Sparks threatened nearby homes, but were prevented from doing damage by volunteers.

Ignorance helps many reformers. You can be a more zealous partisan if you know only one side of the story.

State History Study 'Must' For Teachers

Course In U. S. And Pennsylvania History Required By State Council Of Education

Pennsylvania state teachers' certificates regulations have been modified to require preparation in the history of the United States and of Pennsylvania, according to word received here from the State Council of Education.

Motive of the new requirement came in a letter to Superintendent of School Frank L. Burton sent by Dr. Henry Klonower, Director of the council. It will apply to all permanent certificates issued after September 1, 1943, and to all certificates issued after September 1, 1944.

Text of the letter says, in part: "Subsequent to September 1, 1943, all permanent certificates issued by the Department of Public Instruction to teach in the public schools of the Commonwealth, shall, in addition to the present regulations, require a basic course in the history of the United States and of Pennsylvania." The same requirement applies to all certificates issued subsequent to September 1, 1944.

An extension course in Pennsylvania history is now being organized by Professor Snow, of State College, for teachers' certificates candidates who wish to obtain credit for the required course.

Organized for War Prepared for Peace

Hitler's big mistake was in believing the United States couldn't get organized fast enough to fight a war. Adolph is learning the hard way.

Like the other American industries, the motor truck industry is organized for war. Day and night the trucks are rolling, carrying more lessons for Hitler.

But—the motor truck industry is prepared for peace when it comes. Out of the war will come experiences in organization in efficiency and in co-operation that will be turned into the channels of peace to give you even better motor truck service.

New Castle Falter In Wild Last Period

Shenango-E. Brook Quints Are Victims

Beaver Falls' 19-Point Splurge Sends Locals Into Beaten List For 12th Time Here Friday—Section 3 Battle Thrill-Studded—Fred Wimer, Andrews, Zubkowsky Star For Locals.

After grasping what seemed to be a safe and sound six-point advantage as the third period buzzer twanged, New Castle's Canes lost their equanimity and consequently suffered a 35-32 Section 3 defeat, administered by Beaver Falls Friday night on George Washington floor.

Lagging by two points after the intermission, the locals engineered an impressive 13-point shower and snared a 23-16 edge as third quarter hostilities ended. In view of New Castle's flashy performance and the Falls' inability to halt the localites' hot offensive, victory seemed in the offing.

Locals Lead, 23-19

Prodielski opened the finale with a foul pop and Peete dribbled the length of the court and clicked under. With the Canes still leading, 23-19, Preston, who entered the clash after one minute had elapsed, dumped in a deuce on a follow up.

Parked from the same side, Ours buried and came right back with an underhand shot. Zubkowsky, however, dunked a one-knockout from near the gift line. The locals sported at 27-23 margin.

Jansto took advantage of an opening under the rim and Ours earned his third fielder of the period from the same side station to knot the count. A minute later Ours cashed in with his fourth two-player from his favorite side perch.

For thrills, not to mention customary disputes arising from decisions made by the officials, the contest topped all others played here this season.

Wimer Stars

Fred Wimer was New Castle's ace in the hole. Besides parking nine markers, the lean forward played an exceptionally smooth defensive game. Andrews, who saw limited action, sparked. He ranged five points and had a couple of assists.

For Beaver Falls, Ours broke up the clash with his four side flips within a span of three minutes.

Peete cashed in with a dozen markers.

New Castle suffered its twelfth setback of the season and sixth in the sectional play.

Army Ruling Bans Special Students From Participating In Athletics

INSTITUTIONS HOPE TO "STICK IT OUT"

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The death knell of all big time college sports for the duration was sounding today as the army moved to "draft" many of the nation's leading schools within the next 90 days to train highly skilled technicians for the armed forces.

The army, they said, seeks to train 150,000 high school and college students of draft age in 1943 at 271 schools already named on a tentative list as those whose facilities will be taken over.

No Time For Grid

"I don't think our soldiers will have much time to indulge in big time football," General Dalton said. "That brings up the question of participation in college athletics. The army is not sending its soldier-students there to participate in big college athletics."

PITTSBURGH—Pittsburgh's three institutions of higher learning—Pitt, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne—indicated today they would try to keep their athletic programs going despite the Washington ruling banning special students from participation.

Spokesmen said they would "stick it out," and do what they could.

CHICAGO—Big Ten coaches and athletic directors today expressed varying opinions on the effect of the army's ruling that none of its 150,000 college trainees may compete in intercollegiate sports.

Try To "Carry On"

Although the order shuts off a major source of athletic manpower in eight conference schools some Big Ten officials expressed confidence they could "carry on."

PHILADELPHIA—A wave of gloom swept over Philadelphia district colleges today in the wake of the army's order that students under its specialized training program may not participate in inter-collegiate sports.

Spokesmen at Penn, Temple, La Salle, St. Joseph's, Villanova and Drexel Tech readily predicted the end of spring football practice and possible abandonment of the sport in the fall.

Nickie Gennoch, a star performer on the U. S. Coast Guard, Curtis Bay, Md., quint is playing his customary flashy role and has helped the service boys pick up 16 out of 20 wins.

Jack Kelly, invited New York to discuss his bid for the Quaker City Club, but was informed that Kelly had been cancelled until Monday.

Idle thoughts—What happens to Manager Hans Lohr? Why not rally the Phils? Could it be that the Phils are dead? Rumor story was manufactured by the same propagandists who peddled a similar yarn about Max Schmelz?

Auburn, collegiate football Marce Poles, may quit football for the duration. Joe Eastman, of the ODT, no doubt, will be pleased if they do.

Genova college cases among the worst road teams in the nation. So far this season, the Covies have played on foreign boards 11 times—losing nine times!

In the last ten days Westminster has mopped up West Liberty, Geneva, Pitt and Juniata to bring their record to six wins in nine starts. The Panthers were enjoying a seven game winning streak and a record of eight decisions in nine starts before they met the Titans.

The Blue and White eagles hold the edge in the series dates back to 1906. In 13 meetings Westminster has come out on top eight times, capturing the last three straight and five out of the last six.

Kerr, Buc Rookie Hurler, In Guard

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—James McDonald (Don) Kerr, Pittsburgh Pirate rookie pitcher, has traded his baseball uniform for that of the U. S. Coast Guard and is through with the game for the duration, it was announced today.

Kerr pitcher for the Albany and Harrisburg farm clubs, winning four and losing two games for Harrisburg. His departure brings to nine the number of Pirates now in the armed services.

SCHOOLBOYS SPLIT DOUBLEHEADER BILL

Thaddeus Stevens and Rose Avenue schools divided honors in a double header bill in the Rose Avenue gymnasium Friday afternoon.

Before a crowded house, the game between the two varsity teams, Thaddeus Stevens won 14-10. In the first game between the two "second teams" of the schools, Rose Avenue won 4-1. James Dart refereed both games.

The Mid-Atlantic and Penn State Baseball League will meet February 21 in Pittsburgh to decide whether the circuits will operate during 1943.

Reports reaching us say Johnny Uram and "Kern" Hamilton are in the Belgian Congo.

Cleveland is perking again, pugilistically, and on February 23 Jimmy Bivins and Anton the Greek Christoforidis will meet in a light-heavyweight which is scheduled to go 15 rounds. It will be their third fight, each having won a nod. The 175-pound champion is Gus Lesnevich and he is serving his country.

SPEAKING ABOUT BOWLING

If you think bowling doesn't appeal to the nation's prettier gals, take a look above. The unusually beautiful Toni Clark listens attentively as Connie Schwoelger, national match game bowling champion, explains that bowling shoes not only make keeling an easier sport but rank as a "must."

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Parade of sportsgraphs—

Departure of George Steck, via the khaki route, has left a wide pass in Grove City college's quint. Coach Charley Ruffner hopes to bridge the gap by placing Joe Johnston, a Northview avenue product, this city in the star's guard post.

Nickie Gennoch, a star performer on the U. S. Coast Guard, Curtis Bay, Md., quint is playing his customary flashy role and has helped the service boys pick up 16 out of 20 wins.

WAMPUM FIRST "GRAND" QUINTET

Coach L. B. Hennon's proficient hoopers continue to grace the center of the limelight.

In coping their 17th decision last night, the Wampumites potted 50 points, to become the first and only team in the W. P. L. A. L., so far as can be determined, to score one thousand points this season.

The "Indians" ran their total to 1,006, for an average of 52 markers per tiff—an unusually high mark for a Class B quintet.

Penann contenders in the unusually red-hot Section 21 race padded their victory lists Friday night.

New Wilmington's "Greyhounds" operating minus their ace, Kenny "Skyscraper" Cathcart, bagged their 16th consecutive triumph, brushing past East Brook, 26-23, on the Brook boards.

At East New Castle, a capacity crowd watched with amazement as ambidextrous Coy "Springy" Craine put on another sensational show as he led his Wampum mates to an easy takes it 50-28 victory over Shenango Township.

Union Wins, 24-20

In a "sea-line" engagement Union Township high climbed out of the league's cellar by collaring a 24-20 decision over a fighting Mt. Jackson quint on Union floor.

With the Bessemer and Wampum dates coming up, Coach Johnny Eagleson relegated the high-scoring Cathcart to the sidelines due to a leg injury suffered last Tuesday.

Talented Norbert Borowicz took over in with a 15-point onslaught which dumped the belligerent Brookers.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

DAVIES OBJECTS

D. O. Davies, city director of the OCD is of the belief that the State Council of Civilian Defense should not release for publication new civilian defense plans until they are in the possession of local boards. He reports that bulletins which do arrive state one thing and then news reports follow stating another. He agrees that newspapers carry accounts as soon as they are released but failure of the higher bodies to first notify local boards cause confusion. This column has picked up items announced through newspapers and which later proved correct. However, during the time between the newspaper announcement from Harrisburg and the local announcement the city OCD announced that such regulations would not be effective until they officially received the reports.

EXPLAIN NEW OPERATIONS

Frank Sargent, chief of raid wardens, today stated that wardens, fire-watchers, auxiliary police and all other OCD workers will be soon called upon to attend a class where instructions will be given in regard to signals to be in effect within a few days.

VIDAL KEPT BUSY

Numa Vidal, Jr., control officer for Lawrence County OCD has started giving instructions to persons in various OCD groups. Thursday evening he explained operations to three groups. In the future not more than two groups will be received.

City Health Superintendent

MUMPS

This seems to be the time of year for mumps.

It is an annoying disfiguring disease. We do not know the cause but we know what it looks like. In mumps there is a swelling of the large gland in front of the ear. The gland swells in front of and below the ear.

There is usually some discomfort and perhaps a little fever. A person gets mumps only once.

Usually it is not necessary to take any medicine. The patient should be quiet for a couple of days. He should not get chilled.

The home is not quarantined. The patient is excluded from school until he is well again.

Every case of mumps should be reported to the Department of Health.

TRUCKER DINNER

TONIGHT IN HOTEL

Edward Stimson, field representative of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck association, will be the speaker tonight in The Castleton hotel when the monthly dinner of the Lawrence county chapter is held. The dinner was originally scheduled for Monday night, but was advanced when it became known that Mr. Stimson would be present.

Mr. Stimson will be here today and tomorrow to aid truck operators with problems that beset them at this time.

No. 36 DEDUCTIONS FOR BAD DEBTS (PART 2)

No deduction for bad debts arising out of services including rents, is allowable unless the amounts due have been included in income, either in the year in which the deduction as a bad debt is sought to be made or for a previous year. Thus, uncollectible bills rendered by professional men, such as physicians, lawyers, dentists, etc., are not deductible as bad debts unless the amount of such bills rendered have been included in the income reported by the taxpayer. Where the taxpayer reports on the cash receipts and disbursements basis, it is obvious that the amount of the bad debt has not been returned as income, and would, therefore, not be deductible. The rule also applies to other debts arising out of services, such as commissions due to salesmen, salaries or wages for services, and rentals due to landlords on rental property, as well as to debts arising out of sales in the case of a business conducted on the cash receipts and disbursements basis.

A deduction for bad debt may arise where the taxpayer, as indorser or guarantor on an obligation, has been obliged to pay the debt of the principal. When the indorser or guarantor pays a debt, he is subrogated to the rights of the creditor against the principal debtor; and if his claim against the debtor is worthless and uncollectible, he is entitled to a deduction, not because of the payment itself, but because the payment gives rise to a claim which becomes a bad debt. If the indorser or guarantor reports on the cash receipts and disbursements basis, and meets his obligation by giving his personal note for the worthless note of the principal debtor, he may not claim the deduction until the year in which the note is paid. However, if he reports on the accrual basis, the deduction would be allowed in the year in which he gave his note in settlement of the obligation.

The provisions regarding deduction for bad debts do not apply to securities which have become worthless, as such losses are required to be treated as a loss from the sale or exchange of capital assets reportable in Schedule F and in item 8 of the return Form 1040.

Where a debt is ascertained to be recoverable only in part, it is permissible to take a deduction for partial worthlessness not in excess of the amount which actually becomes worthless within the taxable year.

In the case of taxpayers engaged in business in which credit to customers is a factor, the reserve method of deducting bad debts may be employed under the provisions of the statute.
